CTCT pioneers pre-trip inspection facility

In a first of its kind at South African ports the Cape Town Container Terminal (CTCT) will provide a pre-trip inspection (PTI) site for containers before the end of the year.

According to the Pam Yoyo, terminal manager at the Port of Cape Town, the construction of the site is expected to start soon. While there's no firm date for this, Yoyo is determined to see the facility up and running before the end of the year.

"It is one of our main objectives for 2015," she told FTW. "This facility has to work from the get go. There is no time to entertain teething problems and so we are working hard to ensure that all is in place so that once construction of the facility is completed we can immediately start offering this service."
